- Character filters help strip unwanted characters from input fields. Tokenizers act on the fields processed by character filters (or on raw fields, since character filters are optional). Token filters work on the tokens emitted by the tokenizer.
- Elasticsearch provides several out-of-the-box analyzers. We can mix and match existing tokenizers with character or token filters to make custom analyzers that suit our requirements.